

Today's News - February 10, 2005

A look at New Urbanist principles that seem not to work in practice. – Perhaps plans for a U.K. town's extreme makeover should pay heed? – A Canadian "poster child for planned communities" wants to keep things simple. – A book "traces the fates of societies to their treatment of the environment." – Thailand government and U.S. universities get serious about renewable energy and eco-friendly planning. – U.K. universities look to architectural "wow" factors to woo students. – The allure of San Francisco's subtle architecture. – The Institute of Classical Architecture & Classical America sheds its stodgy image. – Viñoly takes on London. – A French architect's wet-cement dream. – A restaurant/cultural complex reflects "architectural heritage, a very rare feat in Lebanon." – An architecture firm has designs on being "a lean, mean, direct-marketing machine." – Call for entries for ergonomic prize. – Archigram is wowing them in Japan. – Shutterbugs beware if strolling through Chicago's Millennium Park.

To subscribe to the free daily newsletter click here

Crime-Friendly Neighborhoods: How "New Urbanist" planners sacrifice safety in the name of "openness" and "accessibility." By Stephen Town and Randal O'Toole- Reason

How's that for a grand design? It's the most ambitious makeover series yet. Channel 4 is attempting to regenerate a whole town...But how do its forthright residents view the arrival of sculpture-strewn greens and swanky riverfront developments?- Guardian (UK)

Determined to keep its small-town roots: What's the big idea? Ajax, the poster child for planned communities, likes to pay attention to the little things.- Globe and Mail (Canada)

Don't Do as the Romans Do: Jared Diamond's "Collapse" traces the fates of societies to their treatment of the environment- Grist Magazine

Demand for solar energy in Thailand is projected to soar over the next six years, driven by the government's programme to promote renewable energy. (Bangkok Post)- Environmental News Network

[Green Expectations: From wind turbines to green dorms, from turf roofs to eco-friendly cleaning fluids, \[universities\] are exploring environmentally friendly ways to conserve energy, save money--and help the planet.](#)- University Business (via CollegeTownLife.com)

The wow factor on campus: Universities are learning that impressive architecture can woo students and give a new identity. - Will Alsop; Foreign Office Architects; Daniel Libeskind; Building Design Partnership; Rick Mather; Allies and Morrison- Independent (UK)

Belvedere College's new block a lesson in concentration: The new science block is a dynamic space designed to serve a number of uses, including an all-round education - Murray O'Laoire- Irish Times

Yawning aside, decorum fits Bay Area nicely: What's good here tends to be subtle -- and subtle doesn't count for much in this age of Gehryesque spectacle...can have a certain allure -- even when it doesn't leap off a magazine page. By John King - Craig Hartman/Skidmore, Owings & Merrill; Brand + Allen; Jim Jennings- San Francisco Chronicle

Mid-18th-Century Modern: The Classicists Strike Back: The Institute of Classical Architecture has made sweeping changes to its once-fusty agenda, and the design world is scoffing no longer.- New York Times

Rafael Viñoly tells Giles Worsley why London is the place to be for architects: ...the arrival of a big New York heavyweight...is a fascinating development- Telegraph (UK)

An Architect's Wet-Cement Dream: Just as termites build castles on Earth, robots could erect skyscrapers on the moon...It's not every day that an age-old discipline like architecture coughs up an anomaly that's unthinkable. This is one of those fine moments. - François Roche/R&SIE- Wired magazine

Mabarat restaurant wins design award: Qaryat al-saha hailed for reflecting Muslim architecture. Structure resembles traditional village in midst of urbanized environment - Jamal Makke/Al-Sanabel for Urban Studies and Architectural Design- Daily Star (Lebanon)

Designing Woman: Angela Santerini thinks that her family architecture business can become the Dell Computer of the design world — a lean, mean, direct-marketing machine - Donald A. Gardner Architects- Fortune

Call For Entries: 2005 International Ergonomics Association/Liberty Mutual Prize: deadline: April 15- ErgoWeb

Amazing Archigram: Pop art meets architecture in England - Peter Cook, Michael Webb, Dennis Crompton, David Greene- Daily Yomiuri (Japan)

The Copyrighting of Public Space: Millennium Park...built with \$270 million in city funds - is slowly emerging as Chicago's most privatized public space. Photographers beware!- New (sub)Urbanist

Marketing Technology: Connecting, Communicating, and Collaborating by Craig Park, FSMPs, Chief Marketing Officer, Fields Devereaux

-
- MVRDV: Silodam Housing, Amsterdam, The Netherlands
 - Mark Fisher: KÀ/Cirque du Soleil, Las Vegas, Nevada

Note: Pages will open in a new browser window.
External news links are not endorsed by ArchNewsNow.com.
Free registration may be required on some sites.
Some pages may expire after a few days.

Yesterday's News

© 2005 ArchNewsNow.com